- The roadmap to replace complex point-to-point data integrations with a simplified, managed, and governed data architecture

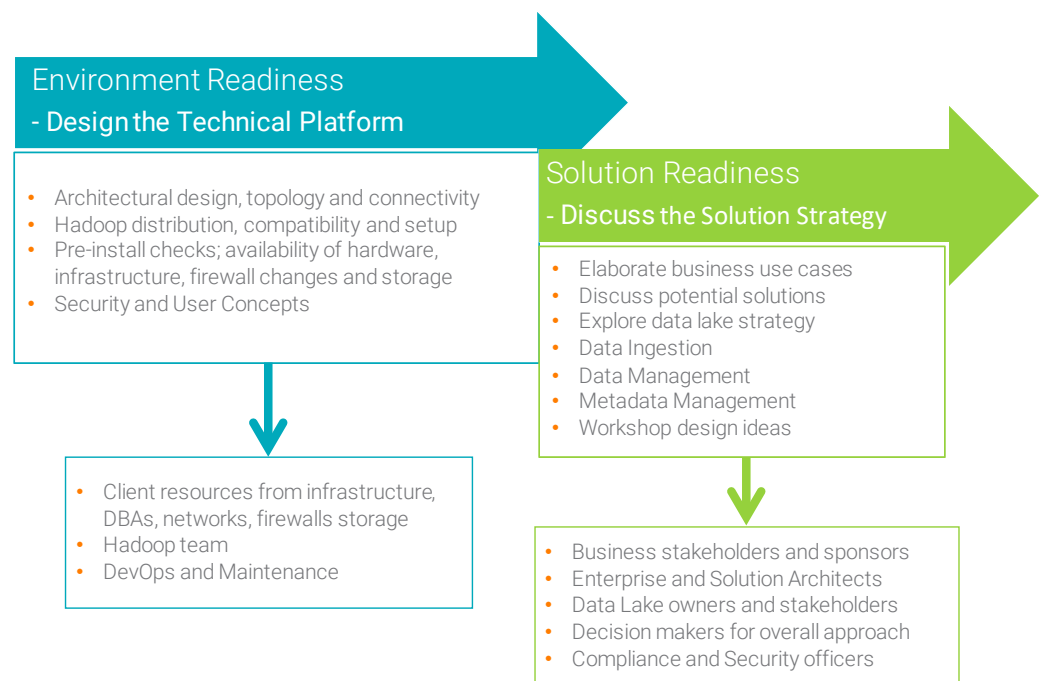

Typical duration

- 4 weeks

Big data is the underpinning of how companies are revolutionizing customer engagement, driving productivity and fueling innovation. It has emerged as a megatrend that is continuing to gain attention. Informatica provides integrated data management solutions to quickly and holistically integrate, govern, and secure big data for your business.

With this Discovery offering the Informatica Professional Services team will assist you in reviewing your big data challenges to ensure that current technology features are matched to meet your big data requirements.

Our experienced Big Data consultants will review your business drivers and use cases. We will help you drive your initial work plan by discussing the solution strategy and designing the technical platform to ensure your success.
