- Accelerate business value and sharing of data resources
- Present a holistic approach to Data Governance by providing a technology to enable sharing of information

Typical duration

- 6-8 weeks

Informatica has a unique and novel set of tools to accelerate your time-to-value with Data Governance. One of the reasons that Data Governance efforts may have failed in the past is because stakeholders couldn't share their understanding of data resources with other enterprise users. Data Governance is about People, Process and Technology. Now we have the definitive technology—Axon—to support you as you map your data from its creation to its ultimate value.

With this Express offering, the Informatica Professional Services team will assess your readiness, strategy and architecture to rapidly deploy Axon in the most effective way possible. We will establish a comprehensive program framework with recommended best practices, and provide accelerated time-to-value in empowering your data stakeholders and sharing their understanding of data resources through the use of Axon.

Our experienced Professional Services consultants will work with you to rapidly deploy the Axon product so that you can start to inventory your data sources and definitions. We will align your business objectives with the technical capabilities that Axon provides. We will help you prioritize the data domains and high-value opportunities so that you can demonstrate ROI in business terms.

Areas of Focus

- Business and technical readiness and business drivers
- Data Governance implementation methodology discussions
- Business value case studies from successful programs
- Solution and platform architecture recommendations
